DCLC Appoints New Members to Replace Existing Positions

The Deltaport Third Berth Project Community Liaison Committee (DCLC) is pleased to announce the appointment of three new community members to replace members who are not renewing their term on the volunteer community committee.

DCLC was initiated by Port Metro Vancouver (PMV) as part of the regulatory commitments for the Deltaport Third Berth Project. The purpose of the committee is to work with PMV during the construction and first year operation phase of the third berth at Deltaport to identify community concerns, develop potential solutions to address those concerns and assist in communicating information among the community, PMV and other port stakeholders.

New community member appointed to the committee are Doug Laloge, Bob Semple and Lloyd Sim.

M. Lloyd Sim: Lloyd is a twenty-three year resident of Ladner. His career as a sea-going marine engineer spanned some forty plus years ending with his recent retirement from BC Ferries as Senior Chief Engineer. He also spent time in the 1980's serving as a Vice-Chairman of the BC Labour Relations Board. He now manages his own marine supply company serving clients from Mexico to Alaska.

Bob Semple: Bob has been a Tsawwassen resident for the past 16 years. He has recently retired as a senior planner from the financial services sector and now has more time to be actively involved in important local issues. Bob is a life-long BC resident receiving a BA in Economics and an MBA in Finance from the University of British Columbia. He worked on the BC coast for over 20 years as the owner of a Marine Construction company and later as partner in a construction publishing business. Bob's varied experiences, including dealings with all levels of government, make him a valuable member of a number of boards, including the Tsawwassen Tennis Club, Southpointe Academy and Antrim Mortgage Co-op.

Doug Laloge: Doug and his wife Sunny have lived in Ladner since 1978 where they have raised two children, Nicole and Sean. Over the years Doug has been involved in coaching local baseball, fastball and football teams. Doug currently works for Cabo Drilling Pacific Corp which is involved in the mining industry, where he is responsible for purchasing. Doug spent thirty five years in the recreational marine industry. This afforded him the opportunity to visit ports around the US, Japan and China. Doug feels that together with the Port, residents of Delta can enjoy living in a great community.

In addition, TSI Terminal Systems Inc. (TSI), recently appointed Simon Daniels as their representative on the committee after the retirement of Colin Donaldson and Tsawwassen First Nation has appointed Councillor Andrea Jacobs to replace Councillor Remo Williams.

DCLC is pleased to welcome new members to the committee and look forward to working with new members to bring forward community issues related to DP3 and to continue working with port stakeholders to help resolve these issues.
